A Movement Co-op

How can I be accountable?

As we participate in the movement to confront systemic violence against Black bodies, some questions to think through:

Where did the movement come from?

How can we respect those legacies?

What power dynamics might exist within the communities that we are working to support?

Whose voices are amplified within protest spaces?

Whose bodies are visible?

Whose bodies are safe?

How can we support this work outside of protest spaces?

Hey, white folks in the streets, enraged by police brutality? Your presence here is valued.

In this zine we invite you to consider how to show up in solidarity with the BlackLivesMatter movement.

We encourage you to enter this discussion with an open mind.
